The Soviets have a factory near Kaliningrad which produces cable mainly for the Army. Since 1952, the Poles have been sending thousands of tons of raw materials a year to this factory from Wroclaw and other places in Silesia via the railroad running through Olsztny on the Polish side and Chernyakhovsk on the Soviet side. These raw materials consist of glass fiber from a factory in Wroclaw and "aldrey", which is an alloy of aluminum, silica, and magnesium. The Polish people are led to believe, however, that the Soviets provide all the necessary raw materials for the cables and then ship the	UBJECT	Supplies for Cable Factory	DATE DISTR.	30 June 1959	5 25X1
